NPS. KNHP. Marzene Slide #42 5th St. ca. 1925

They advertised, “Physicians Prescriptions and Family Recipes,” “Choice Candies Constantly in Stock,” and “The Latest Drinks at Soda Fountain.” Later they advertised, “Pure Drugs & Fair Charges. If you figure close, give us a trial.” By 1917, the building was occupied by a jewelry store, the Warren Jewelry Company, and by 1930, Frank Marzene’s photo studio was there. Marzene moved down the street by 1940, and by about 1950, the old building was replaced by the existing building, which was home to a barbershop.

In 1913, 216 5th Street was probably home to the Eagle Drug Store, which served as a wholesale and retail pharmacy. It was owned by Johnson C. Vivian Jr. around that time, who also owned the Vivian family department store in Laurium. Johnson C. Vivian Sr. had started in business many years before in Opechee Location, later known as Osceola Location.
